

Buy Home Products and Observe Utah Products Day, Dec. 1

The largest and most up-to-date food factory west of Chicago is now the property of the Goddard Pickle & Preserve company of Ogden. The growth of the concern since its incorporation in 1910 has been little short of marvelous. Within the last year the business has increased until now the annual average is $200,000, and still growing.

The accompanying photographs illustrate the rapid growth of the company's plant from its small beginning less than three years ago to its present splendid home. The products of the factory consist of pickles in bulk and glass, grain and fruit vinegars, mincemeat, kraut, olives, peanut butter, pork and beans, honey, catsup and other popular condiments.

The officers of the organization are George W. Goddard, president and manager; John Watson, vice president; Edward Schiller, secretary, and John Pingree, treasurer. The new plant is open at all times to public inspection.

promise to feature Utah products in the dining car service. Special "Utah" menus will be prepared by the Denver & Rio Grande, the Oregon Short Line, the Salt Lake route, the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific. Across the top of the menu cards in red letters will be the greeting, "This meal prepared from Utah grown and manufactured goods exclusively."

Through the efforts of the Development league and the Manufacturers association, the farmers have come to understand the necessity of supporting home manufactured articles. They realize that in turn they will receive the support of the manufacturers. They are among the foremost boosters for the celebration of the day. Families in the city have been urged to use home-made goods through the means of slips which were prepared by the Manufacturers association and which were sent out by nearly every grocer and butcher in town with goods to be delivered. The notices are artistic and they have the following to say: "Observe Utah Products day, December 1. Let everything you eat, drink, wear and use be made in Utah. By doing this you will insure your own permanent prosperity."

NOTHING BUT UTAH PRODUCTS IN FAVOR

beginning at 12:30 o'clock. An elaborate luncheon, consisting of food prepared from Utah products, will be served, at which probably between 200 and 300 persons will attend. The organizations which will attend the luncheon are: The Salt Lake Ad club, the Electric club, the Utah Development league, the Home Industry association, the Native Sons of Utah, the Manufacturers Association of Utah, the Federation of Labor and the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Aside from these all committees of the Commercial club have been invited, and also every member of the club is asked to attend.

Lon J. Haddock, in charge of the extension division of the Agricultural college at Logan, will make an address. He will tell of the possibilities for greater production in the state and he will also tell of work which has been done to procure better efficiency for the products of the state. D. C. Dunbar, vice chairman of the manufacturers' committee of the Commercial club, will preside at the luncheon. Mrs. A. J. Gorman, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will speak on the subject of "How the Use of Utah Products Benefits Everyone in Utah." A feature of the luncheon will be that many women of various clubs, who are interested in the promotion of Utah products, will be in attendance.

Will Show Local Talent.

As a special feature for the occasion an extensive musical programme will be given by the students of the eighth grade of the Lafayette school. The members of the class are mostly Utah products and the idea of having them take a prominent part in the celebration of the day was conceived by W. A. Wetzell, professor of music in the public schools, and by Superintendent D. H. Christensen of the city schools. The chorus will be composed of more than sixty boys and girls, who have been drilled in voice culture and harmony since the school term opened last September. The programme will be as follows:

"Soldier's Farewell."
"Old Kentucky Home."
"Utah, We Love Thee."
"Annie Laurie."
"Dearest Spot on Earth."
"Home, Sweet Home."
The selections will be given throughout the luncheon.

It is probable that the Salt Lake high school orchestra will accompany the singers. After the luncheon all the guests will be urged to visit the Utah chamber of commerce in the Vermont building, where hundreds of samples of Utah products will be displayed. Those who attend the luncheon will be privileged to bring their wives, mothers or sweethearts in order that they may be convinced of how excellent a meal can be prepared from Utah products exclusively. Not a thing served will be imported. Order made from Utah apples will be in abundance.

Railroads to Help.

Utah products will not only be served three times today at the restaurants, cafes, cafeterias and hotels in the city and state, but the railroad companies passing through the state have given

BORDEN'S EVAPORATED MILK IS A UTAH PRODUCT

And Every Good Dealer Sells It.

It's Imitated, but None Equaled.

The most important and economical article of food is Milk. The most important question is its purity. Borden originated Condensed Milk. In 1856 Gail Borden was granted the first patent ever issued for the vacuum process of condensing and preserving milk. This process has never been improved upon.

You CAN'T IMPROVE on Borden's

The experience of over half a century in other states has been brought to the BORDEN CONDENSING PLANTS IN UTAH. Thorough equipment and strict observance of rigid sanitary regulations, together with a fixed purpose to supply only the best, have resulted in a product that is absolutely unequalled. The result is that the sales of Borden's Evaporated Milk in these intermountain states are increasing rapidly. Every can is an advertisement. Your grocer sells it. Your grocer recommends it.
